The Intelligent Hand: From Hellenistic Epigram to the Hoby Cups

This lecture takes its lead from the artist who signed his name on the silver cups from Hoby (now in the National Museum of Denmark) as 'Cheirisophos', meaning 'Wise Hand'. Rather than just taking the name as a playful pseudonym, it explores how the artist's self-identification can be read alongside the scenes of diplomacy, supplication and healing on the cups themselves, which are also examples of intelligent acts of touch.
