

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION IN GEOPOLITICAL TURMOIL

Conversations with Ambassador Carsten Staur
Chair of the OECD Development
Assistance Committee (DAC)

Lecture on current trends in development cooperation and Roundtable about DAC members vs. other providers of cooperation, including South-South cooperation

Host: Global Studies at Aarhus University
Time: November 10, 2026 – 2-4 PM
Location: Building 1482 room105

14-15 Ambassador Carsten Staur lecture: International development co-operation in geopolitical turmoil – current trends and the role of the DAC, followed by Q and A

15-16 Roundtable: Perspectives on DAC members and other providers of development co-operation: Opportunities and Challenges

Roundtable to discuss collaboration, competition, and alternative forms of cooperation between the 34 DAC members and other non-DAC providers, engaged in South-South or triangular cooperation.

The Arab World, Brazil, India, Japan, Korea, and more

Thomas Brandt Fibiger (Associate Professor, The Arab World)

Georg Fischer (Associate Professor, Brazil)

Uwe Skoda (Associate Professor, India)

Raymond Yamamoto (Associate Professor, Japan)

Moderator: Annette Skovsted Hansen (Associate Professor, Japan and the Global)

For further details: Annette Skovsted Hansen
ostash@cas.au.dk

Ambassador Carsten Staur is the Chair of the OECD's Development
Assistance Committee (DAC)

Formerly, Permanent Representative of Denmark to the United Nations in Geneva (2013-18) and New York (2007-13), State Secretary for International Development Cooperation (2001-2007), Director for Development Policy and Planning in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Ambassador of Denmark to Israel, Under Secretary for Administrative Affairs, and Under Secretary for Bilateral Development Cooperation.

Please sign up
coffee and cake

