

Special seminar on project-description for ph.d.-applications in theology:

Friday 24.1. at 13.00 – 15.30, room 415 Building 1453,
Nobelparken (Jens Chr. Skous v. 3, 8000 Aarhus)

If you're a promising MA (KA)-student / -candidate with (reasonably) good grades and an interesting idea for a ph.d.-project, yet feel you could use some tips and advice to develop your idea into a convincing and clear project description, then this seminar is for you!

The seminar will address questions about how to structure your project description as well as its main sections, such as main idea, background and motivation, research questions, method and theory etc.

NB!! Notice that this seminar is in addition to, and does not replace, the info-meeting for all Culture and Society (IKS) ph.d.-applicants Monday 13.1. This seminar will be about the project description only, and will not answer questions about formalities related to the application and ph.d.program. For that, you will need to attend the info meeting.

NB! Registration required!

Those who are interested in participating MUST register by sending a very short description of their project idea / topic (no more than approx 80 – 100 words, in Danish or English) to:

teous@cas.au.dk

as soon as possible and no later than Monday 20.1. ; indicating their current academic level (BA, MA) resp. completed ECTS pts., and preferably also include a transcript of their grades. Depending on interest, no. of participants may be limited.

Language:

English if needed, otherwise Danish / Scandinavian
